

Recycling Talk Balls

Throw the talk ball around the class and let them answer questions about the item under their left thumb.

- Can this item be recycled?
- Do you recycle this item?
- Could you recycle this item more?
- Does this item take a long or short period of time to decompose?
- What is this item made of?
- What shape is this item?
- What is it used to store?

You could even get the other children to try and guess what the item is, or get the other children to ask questions on the item. Try limiting the questions to maybe ten or twenty so that there's more thought put into the questions and there's more of a challenge.
